Number available: 1

Deadline: 4 May 2017

BEFORE YOU APPLY

Here you will find some useful information to help make applying for one of our scholarships as simple as possible.

Once you have read all of the information below and are ready to find out more about how to make a scholarship application, you can visit our How to apply page. Do I have to have an offer of a place on a course before I can apply for a scholarship? Yes you do. You can only apply for a scholarship once you have applied for admission for a place on the course you wish to study and been offered either a conditional or unconditional offer. We cannot accept any scholarship application without an admissions offer.

Guidance on how to apply for admission can be found here:

Undergraduate admission application guidance

Postgraduate admission application guidance

Please note that it can take from four to six weeks to get a course offer. You should therefore apply for admission to your chosen course/s at least six weeks before the relevant scholarship application deadline date.

Am I eligible for a scholarship?

Each of our scholarships has its own set of eligibility criteria which you should check carefully to make sure you are eligible before you apply. In addition to checking the specific criteria for the scholarship/s you wish to apply for, you should also check the general eligibility criteria for Westminster's scholarship programme.

How do I choose which scholarship/s to apply for?

Generally, we offer four different types of scholarships for international undergraduate and postgraduate students:

Full scholarships (which provide for tuition fee costs, living expenses, accommodation and flights to and from the UK)

Full tuition fee award scholarships (100% tuition fee award only)

Half tuition fee award scholarships (50% tuition fee award only)

Part tuition fee award scholarships (up to 50% tuition fee award only)

International undergraduate and postgraduate students can only apply for one type of scholarship.

UK/EU undergraduate students may apply for as many UK/EU undergraduate scholarships as they wish.

As a general rule of thumb for all applicants, the higher the value of the scholarship the more competitive the application process is. You are therefore advised to choose carefully which scholarship/s you apply for based on whether you meet the eligibility criteria and your true level of financial need.

You will only be considered for the scholarships you express an interest in at the time of application so think carefully before you apply.

What documentation do I need to apply?

International Undergraduate and all Postgraduate applicants

As well as completing the relevant Scholarship application form, you will need to provide the following supporting documentation:

A copy of the letter/email from the University of Westminster confirming your conditional or unconditional offer of a place on your chosen course.

An official copy of your transcript from your most recent/current academic study.

A reference letter written specifically in support of your scholarship application. This should be written by a previous tutor, professor, academic or employer (where relevant to your chosen degree course) and cannot be the same reference provided as part of your admission application.

Please note that certified translations of any supporting documents written in languages other than English must be provided. Also, please do not send your own personal copies or originals of documents as we are unable to return these to you.

HOW TO APPLY

Before reading this section, please make sure you have read our before you apply page.

The Scholarships Office will email you to acknowledge receipt of your application. If you require proof of delivery, please use a delivery or courier service which allows you to track your package and verify receipt.

All scholarship applications are screened to ensure the basic eligibility criteria for the scholarships selected have been met. If we find that you do not meet the requirements you will be informed via email. Please note applications that do meet the criteria for our scholarships will be assessed and shortlisted once the application deadline for the relevant scholarship intake has passed.

Application advice

Please take account the following when making your application (further application advice can be found on our frequently asked questions page):

Your application must be typed, not handwritten.

Please complete all sections of the application form. Incomplete applications will be automatically rejected.

Make sure you provide all required supporting documentation the (the list of required documentation is outlined on before you apply page and on the application form itself). Incomplete applications will be automatically rejected.

Do not submit more than the requested documentation. Please do not send original documents, as we cannot return these.

International undergraduate and postgraduate students can only apply for one type of scholarship (i.e. Full Scholarship, Full Fee, and Half/Part Fee award) – please do not tick more than one box on the application form.

Spend time on your application. You are in competition with some of the strongest students in the world so spend as much time as necessary creating a polished, professional and persuasive application.

Do not exceed the word limit given for any section of the application. We ask you to answer questions concisely for a reason.

Check your application for spelling and grammar errors.

Make a complete copy of the application before you send it.

7. 240 Singapore International Graduate Awards in Singapore, 2018

Up to 240 SINGA Awards are given every year to top students from all over the world. Awards are available for pursuing PhD studies either at National University of Singapore (NUS) or Nanyang Technological University (NTU) or the Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD).

They want to encourage more such exchanges, to build friendships and mutual understanding. This is why they are introducing a new Singapore International Graduate Award (or SINGA), for international students to do their PhD training in a multi-disciplinary environment in Singapore. 240 SINGA Awards will be given every year to top students from all over the world.

The Singapore International Graduate Award (SINGA) is a collaboration between the Agency for Science, Technology & Research (A*STAR), the Nanyang Technological University (NTU), the National University of Singapore (NUS) and the Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD). PhD training will be carried out in English at your chosen lab at A*STAR Research Institutes, NTU, NUS or SUTD. Students will be supervised by distinguished and world-renowned researchers in these labs.

International students with a passion for Science and Engineering research, excellent academic qualifications, good reports from academic referees, and fluency in English are encouraged to apply for this award. TOEFL, IELTS and GRE are NOT required. However, applicants may indicate their scores in the online application form if they have already taken any of these tests. If applicants are invited for an interview, the selection panel will assess your command of spoken and written English during the interview. The selection process will not be biased against candidates without GRE, TOEFL or IELTS.

Course Level: Awards are available for pursuing PhD studies either at National University of Singapore (NUS) or Nanyang Technological University (NTU) or the Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD).

Study Subject(s): SINGA only supports PhD studies in the field of science and engineering.

Scholarship Award: The award provides financial support for up to 4 years of PhD studies. It includes:

- Full support of tuition fees
- Stipends – S$2,000 per month (S$24,000 per annum), to be increased to S$2,500 per month (S$30,000 per annum) after passing Qualifying Examinations
- One-time S$1,000 settling-in allowance
- One-time airfare grant of S$1,500

Scholarship can be taken in Singapore

Eligibility: To be eligible to apply:

- Open to all international students
- Graduates with a passion for research and excellent academic results
- Good skills in written and spoken English
- Good reports from academic referees

Nationality: International students can apply for these SINGA Awards.

Fellows, from countries where no such Embassy or Consulate exists, must secure their visa through the nearest Embassy of the Republic of Poland.

UNESCO and the Government of the Republic of Poland provide no allowance to defray passport and visa expenses. Selected beneficiaries will have to secure their own visas themselves.

9. UNIVERSITY OF SUSSEX

PhD Studentship: Turbo-charged Control using a turbo speed sensor (2017)

Turbo-chargers are a central component in modern combustion engines of all sizes. The turbo is typically controlled indirectly with pressure sensors. The University of Sussex has successfully developed a new sensing technology known as the Electro Potential Sensor (EPS) that may be used to measure the speed of the turbo, allowing direct control of the turbo speed. In addition to performance benefits, the EPS is relatively cheap and could be used to replace other sensors.

This project will develop turbo-charged control strategies for the application of the EPS to combustion engines. The project will start with a Simulation phase where control algorithms can be studied in detail, before moving to a test and development phase on the University's engine test facility where the prototype control algorithms would be developed. The project will address both conventional turbo systems and the new electrically assisted turbo systems.

Applications are invited from Mechanical, Automotive or Aerospace Engineering students with a background in Control, 1D CFD, Turbocharging and Simulation. Experience of using Matlab and Simulink would be highly desirable. The applicant would be expected to carry out both simulation and experimental work.

Type of award

Postgraduate Research.

Award Amount

£14,296 stipend plus a fee waiver at the UK/EU rate.

Eligibility

The studentship will include a three year stipend at a standard rate (currently £14,296 per annum) and, in addition, fees at the UK/EU rate. Since the studentship only covers fees at the UK/EU rate, overseas applicants are kindly requested to state in their application how they propose to cover the difference between the UK/EU rate and the overseas fees (for more details visit: <http://www.sussex.ac.uk/study/phd/fees-and-scholarships>).

Application procedure

Apply for an Engineering PhD for September 2017 using this step by step guide: <http://www.sussex.ac.uk/study/phd/appl>

In the 'Finance information' section of the application form clearly state you are applying for the "PhD Studentship: Turbo-charger Control using a turbo speed sensor".

Application Deadline: 25/03/2017

Medical Biology Faculty of Science

Molecular Life Sciences	Faculty of Science
Science	Faculty of Science
Mathematics	Faculty of Science
Computing Science	Faculty of Science
Information Sciences	Faculty of Science
European Law	Faculty of Law

Level and duration of the scholarship

The scholarship is not an amount of money that you will receive in your bank account, but consists of a partial tuition waiver. The tuition fee will be waived to the level of an EEA student. For example: a grant holder in 2017/2018 will pay a tuition fee of only €2,006, instead of €9,432 or €10,360. In addition the Radboud Scholarship also covers costs such as those for visa, residence permit, health insurance and liability insurance (Insurance Passport for Students (IPS)). This amounts to about €725.

In the case of a two-year programme: to qualify for the grant during the second year, you need to have passed all courses in the first year.

Eligibility requirements

You will only be eligible to obtain a Radboud Scholarship if you:

hold a non-EU/EEA passport are not eligible for the lower EEA tuition fee for other reasons have (will obtain) a Bachelor's degree achieved outside the Netherlands, have no degrees achieved in the Netherlands and did not receive any previous education in the Netherlands have been fully admitted to the English-taught Master's degree programme starting September 1, 2017 as stated in the formal letter of admission are able to comply with the conditions for obtaining a visa for the Netherlands are enrolled at Radboud University as a full-time student for the academic year and Master's degree programme for which the scholarship will be awarded

Selection criteria

From the eligible candidates the Radboud Scholarship holders will be selected based on the following criteria:

Talent: this means that you must have outstanding study results in your present field of study

You are expected to be a promising student in your desired field of study at Radboud University

Proven academic quality and good results of your prior education for example through grades, test scores, publications

Quality of the recommendations in the two reference letters

Motivation: based on your motivation letter for the Master's programme

Application procedure and documents required

The application for admission and the application for the scholarship is fully integrated, there is no separate application procedure for the scholarship. However, the selection for RSP and the admission to the Master's degree programme are two separate processes. Admission to the programme does not imply selection for RSP.

You apply for a Radboud Scholarship by indicating during your application for admission that you wish to apply for a Radboud Scholarship. You will then be requested to upload three additional documents: two reference letters and a curriculum vitae.

Deadline

You must have finalized your request for admission via our online application system OSIRIS Incoming Students before 1 April 2017.

The faculty selects the grant recipients. You will be informed about the final decision by the International Office with respect to your application for a Radboud Scholarship before the end of May 2017. (date subject to change)

18. UEA International Development Scholarships for International Students

University of East Anglia

Master's Degree

Deadline: 31 Mar 2017 (annual)

Study in: UK

Course starts September 2017

Brief description:

The University of East Anglia is offering one full fee scholarship for international students towards Master's Degree courses offered by the School of International Development.

Host Institution(s):

School of International Development, University of East Anglia in UK

Field(s) of study:

Master's Degree courses offered by the School of International Development

Target group:

International students

Number of scholarships and inclusions:

One full fee award may be offered

Eligibility Criteria:

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of academic excellence (e.g. first class degree) and their personal statement. All applicants are expected to have met the School's English language requirements and been offered and accepted a place on the course by the deadline.

Application instructions:

All eligible candidates to whom the School have made an offer are automatically considered for nomination. Deadline for applications is 31 March 2017.

It is important to visit the official website (link found below) for detailed information on how to apply for this scholarship.

Funding for postgraduate study is available both from the University of East Anglia and from a number of external schemes.

Funding your course of study

The information which follows is intended to help you to identify sources of financial support before your course begins.

Please Note: The information given below is intended as a general guide. It does not represent an exhaustive list of all available funding. You are encouraged to apply to all sources of funds for which you may be eligible. International students should approach their local British Council for information on local funding.

The level of competition for most of the awards mentioned here is extremely high and candidates are usually assessed on past, and potential, academic performance. If you will require a grant in order to undertake your studies, your application should be made as early in the year as possible. Applications received after March cannot be considered for most scholarships.

The majority of international postgraduate students taking courses in the School of International Development are sponsored by their Governments, their employers, or an agency such as the British Council.

You should not begin a new course unless you are confident that you have enough money for the duration of your course, bearing in mind that fees and expenses are likely to increase annually. Although it is increasingly possible for international students to work part-time while studying in the UK, (part-time earning levels are about £6 - £9 per hour, and this is currently restricted to 20 hours per week by the UK Border Agency) you should not rely on funding your studies through vacation or part-time work since your earnings are likely to be low in relation to your expenses. The UK Border Agency requires you to show proof that you can fund your full tuition fees and high levels of living costs in order to obtain a Tier 4 Student Visa.

50% Final Year Undergraduate Continuation Scholarship

Current final year UEA undergraduate students who gain a 1st class degree and progress onto a postgraduate course in September 2017 will receive a 50% fee reduction scholarship. Those who do not gain a 1st class degree will still be eligible for the 10% UEA Alumni Scholarship outlined below. Terms and conditions apply.

WHO recruits staff on fixed-term or temporary contracts? Staff are grouped in two broad streams: Professional (P) or General Service staff (G). Directors (D) are part of the professional category.

Internationally recruited

Professional staff are hired internationally and occupy leadership functions or positions that require a significant level of technical expertise. P-staff are mobile and are expected to work across the globe.

Locally recruited

General Service staff are hired locally at the respective duty station. Their main role is to work jointly and support P-staff in their roles and to assure the smooth functioning of all administrative matters.

National Professional Officers are nationals of the country in which they serve and perform functions of a professional nature requiring local knowledge, expertise and experience of a national.

26. The Denys Holland Scholarship at University College London

University College London

Bachelor's Degree

Deadline: 7 July 2017 (annual)

Study in: UK

Important Information for All Applicants

Professor Denys Holland, in whose memory the Denys Holland Fund was created via donations from his students, was a sociable, compassionate man. A Professor of Law and Dean of Students, one of his principal concerns was the welfare and fulfilment of students under his care. His admissions policy for the Faculty of Laws was aimed at a broad range of students who would enter fully into college life.

The Denys Holland Scholarship aims to support undergraduate students from any country, who without the support of the scholarship would be unable to secure the funding required to study at UCL, and who can demonstrate their intention to make full use of the activities offered by UCL and the Student Union.

Eligibility requirements

Applicants should be:

Holding an offer of admission to UCL for full-time undergraduate study in any department;

In financial hardship, and be able to demonstrate that without the scholarship they would be unable to study at UCL;

Preferably aged 25 or below at the time of commencing their studies;

Able to demonstrate that they have broad interests and intend to be actively involved in and contribute to the life of the university.

Selection criteria

The scholarship is awarded on the basis of financial hardship, subject to applicants demonstrating their intention to play a full part in extracurricular activities of UCL and the Students Union.

Value: benefits and duration

The scholarship is worth £9,000 per year for three years, subject to satisfactory academic progress and scholars may choose to use all or part of the scholarship to cover fees. Any remainder is paid to the scholar as a maintenance stipend.

The scholarship may be held alongside other grants, bursaries, awards or scholarships, provided annual total funding does not exceed the cost of fees plus a reasonable sum for maintenance in any one year (as determined by UCL).

Applications deadline and procedure

The deadline for your application is: Friday, 7 July 2017 at 5pm (UK time). Applicants must provide UCL Student Number or UCAS Application Number for applications to be considered valid. If an application is received after this deadline it will not be deemed eligible and cannot be considered.

Application form (.doc)

Complete applications and supporting documentations should be submitted by email to: studentfunding@ucl.ac.uk

Applicants will be required to detail their current outside interests and indicate areas of non-academic activity which they would hope to pursue while a student. They will also have to provide information on their financial circumstances and other sources of income being sought to fund their studies - additional information may be requested by the selection panel.

Notification of results

The Denys Holland Scholarship Committee meets in mid-August, and successful candidates can expect to be notified by email in early/mid-September.

If you do not hear from the UCL Student Funding Office by mid-September, please assume your application has been unsuccessful. Please also check this web page, we will put up a note to let you know the date the successful candidate has been informed.

*NOTE: All scholarship and student funding schemes are subject to availability of funds, and details given here are subject to change at any time. Potential applicants are urged to check information regularly to ensure they are aware of current procedures, deadlines etc.
